What is the purpose of this notice?

To describe how we collect and use personal data about you in accordance with the General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR).

What we need

Hyde & Lewis will be what's known as the "Controller" of the personal data you provide to us. We only collect basic personal data about you which does not include any special categories of personal information about you (known as Special Category Data). This does however include name, address, e-mail, telephone number and financial information.

How we collect data

The data we hold is collated from the carrying out of our function as accountants and tax advisers. The data is collected directly from you by way of questionnaires and through the provision of records by you such as tax documentation issued by third parties.

Why we need it

We need to know your basic personal data in order to carry out our function as accountants and tax advisors. We will not collect any personal data from you we do not need to provide and oversee this service to you. In carrying out our function as accountants and tax advisers we are required to share your data with third parties in compliance with applicable law. We will only ever share your data with other third parties, such as financial institutions, after your prior consent.

What we do with it

We only ever use your personal data with your consent, or where it is necessary:

- To enter into, or perform, a contract with you
- To comply with a legal duty
- To protect your vital interests
- For our own (or third party's) lawful interests, provided your rights don't override these

In any event, we'll only use your information for the purpose or purposes it was collected for (or for closely related purposes).

We may process personal information for certain legitimate business purposes, which include some or all of the following:

- to identify and prevent fraud
- to provide communications which we think will be of interest to you
- where the processing enables us to enhance, modify, personalise or otherwise improve our services/communications for the benefit of our clients
- to enhance the security of our network and information systems

Whenever we process data for these purposes we will ensure that we always keep your personal data rights in high regard and take account of these rights at all times.

When we process your personal data for our legitimate interests, we will make sure that we consider and balance any potential impact on you (both positive and negative), and your rights under data protection laws. Our legitimate business interests do not automatically override your interests – we will not use your personal data for activities where our interests are overridden by the impact on you (unless we have your consent or are otherwise required or permitted to by law). You have the right to object to this processing if you wish and if you wish to do so please notify Elaine Lewis immediately. Please bear in mind that if you object this may affect our ability to carry out the tasks above for your benefit.

Where we keep it

We are based in the UK and we store our data within the EU. Some organisations which provide services to us may transfer personal data outside of the EU but we will only allow them to do if your data is adequately protected.

For example, some of our systems use Microsoft products. As a US company, it may be that using their products result in personal data being transferred to or accessible from the US. However, we will allow this as we are certain personal data will still be adequately protected (as Microsoft is certified under the USA's Privacy Shield scheme).

How long we keep it

We will only use and store information for so long as it is required for the purposes it was collected. How long information will be stored depends on the information in question and what it is being used for. For example, if you ask us not to send you marketing e-mails, we will stop storing your e-mails for marketing purposes (though we'll keep a record of your preference not to be e-mailed).

We continually review what information we hold and delete what is no longer required. We will not retain your data for any longer than necessary.

What we would also like to do with it

We would, however, like to use your name and e-mail address to inform you of changes in tax and accounting regulations. This information is not shared with third parties and you can unsubscribe at any time via phone or e-mail. Please indicate below if this is something you would like to sign up to.

What are your rights?

We want to ensure that you remain in control of your personal data. Part of this is making sure you understand your legal rights, which are as follows:

- the right to confirmation as to whether we have your personal data and, if we do, to obtain a copy of the personal information we hold (this is known as a data subject access request)
- the right to have your data erased (though this will not apply where it is necessary for us to continue to use the data for a lawful reason)
- the right to have inaccurate data rectified
- the right to object to your data being used for marketing or profiling
- the right to withdraw your consent for us to use your data; and
- where technically feasible, you have the right to personal data you have provided to us which we process automatically based on your consent or the performance of a contract. This information will be provided in a common electronic format.

Please keep in mind that there are exceptions to the rights above and, though we will always try to respond to your satisfaction, there may be situations where we are unable to do so.

If you wish to raise a complaint on how we handled your personal data, you can contact Elaine Lewis who will investigate the matter.

If you are not satisfied with our response or believe we are processing your personal data not in accordance with the law you can complain to the Information Commissioner's Office, the UK supervisory authority for data protection issues.
